

Preliminary choice for a fixed or variable pension

The choice you are now making is preliminary. When you retire, you have to make a final choice.

Your personal information is as follows

I choose

A variable pension. This means that my accrued individual pension capital will then gradually be converted into pension entitlements in the Collective Variable Pension (CVP) and invested in accordance with the collective CVP investment mix.

A fixed pension. This means that I will continue accruing and investing pension capital in accordance with my individual Life cycle profile. I intend to purchase a pension from a different pension administrator when I retire.

Note: I cannot change my preliminary choice until I retire. I will make my final choice within the 6 month period before I am due to retire. What I choose at that time may differ from my preliminary choice.
